The art of demolition – revitalising the Arts University.

The demolition team also fitted special sensors in the U4 subway tunnel, which measured tremors and deformations in walls and tracks, and triggered an alarm when movement greater than 2mm was detected. Despite these complicated, constrained conditions, our team completed the demolition project to the customer's complete satisfaction and, above all, did so on schedule.

Impressions

Image notes

1

Peak performance in a confined space.

The 70t demolition machine was manoeuvred into position in the inner courtyard through a specially constructed opening.

2

Demolition work in the inner courtyard.

To avoid damaging the listed facade, the work was performed with the utmost care.

3

Partial demolition with precautions.

Despite the confined site, the team completed the demolition to the customer's full satisfaction.
